We are pleased that you are applying to attend the Merage Foundation for U.S.-Israel Trade's Leadership Program for Security, IT and Electronics Executives. The two-week program takes place in Irvine, California from October 26-November 7, 2007.

The Leadership Program for Security, IT and Electronics Executives focuses on enhancing your and your company's ability to operate in the United States and to succeed in the global marketplace.

The program provides highly effective approaches to successful marketing, negotiation techniques, applied networking and sales strategies, finance, and legal and procurement issues for Israeli entrepreneurs operating in the U.S. market. Faculty members include some of the most effective U.S. entrepreneurs as well as experts from leading U.S. business schools. Faculty lead you and your colleagues through highly interactive sessions that include relevant case studies, simulations, and project-focused assignments.

The integrated program features an innovative business development component beginning with introductions to relevant U.S. entrepreneurs possibly interested in cooperating with value-adding Israeli businesses.

Criteria for Nomination and Selection:

The Merage Foundation for U.S.-Israel Trade selects up to fifteen participants for each Executive Leadership Program. The fall program is limited to applicants from the security, IT & electronics and related industries. The Foundation is seeking applicants who are executives at Israeli startup companies which have received first-stage financing. The Foundation may choose to admit a limited additional number of participants from companies of a different profile.

Both the applicants and the company they represent must demonstrate a clear capacity and commitment to develop and implement strategies to successfully penetrate U.S. markets. The Foundation considers applicants and companies whose products and/or services reflect a potential comparative or competitive advantage in U.S. markets.
